BABY BOOMER® EDITION — NOTES ON PLAY

©1983 HORN ABBOT LTD.

Trivial Pursuit's™ Baby Boomer® Edition consists of 1,000 question-and-answer cards and two card boxes for use with the Master Game.

All rules of Trivial Pursuit™ apply to the play of the game with the Baby Boomer® Edition cards, with the categories for this subsidiary card set color-coded:

BLUE . . . TELEVISION
YELLOW . . . NIGHTLY NEWS
GREEN . . . LIVES & TIMES
PINK . . . STAGE & SCREEN
BROWN . . . PUBLISHING
ORANGE . . . R.P.M.

The Television category deals with the realm of the small screen, past and present. Stage & Screen addresses itself to theater, movies, comedy acts, concerts and stage nicknames. Nightly News draws upon the broad scope and the details of history-making events in the post-World War II era. The Publishing category focuses on books, magazines, newspapers, comic strips and cartooning. Lives & Times consists of the prominent and obscure issues, items and ideas that have flavored and colored the people, pastimes and products of our day. The R.P.M. category embraces song titles and lyrics, albums, performers and group makeup and names. The rest is rock and roll.

This subsidiary card set permits players a variation on the Master Game. Some may find it interesting to play with both the Master Game's Genus Edition card set and the Baby Boomer® Edition, a total of not 6,000 but 12,000 questions. Playing with the Genus, Baby Boomer®, All-Star Sports and Silver Screen editions makes a total of 24,000 questions available, with a player landing on a green space, for example, having a choice among Science & Nature from Genus, Lives & Times from Baby Boomer®, Baseball from All-Star Sports and Production from the Silver Screen movie card set.

To facilitate such multi-card-set play, a Code Card is provided with this Edition, giving a ready reference to color codes for categories.

Baby Boomers groping for answers to the confusing questions of their time should remember that Richard Nixon, whether he meant to or not, told us all: "Save yourself for the big decision. Don't allow your mind to be cluttered with the trivia."
